

I am The ROCK

David Champion

Job: Associate professor of criminology and criminal justice.

Joined SRU: 2004.

Background: I have worked in juvenile justice, the military police and Army criminal investigation command. I received my master's degree in psychology from Ball State University and my doctorate in criminology from Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Person(s) I'd like to have dinner with: Tom Wolfe, the author.

Why I work at The Rock: I greatly enjoy the friendly and supportive culture we have here at The Rock. I am fortunate to be part of the CRIM program here, and highly respect and admire my fellow criminal justice professors in the department. I love teaching and find a lot of satisfaction working with our students.
