

I am The ROCK

David Glover

Job: Assistant professor of music and chair of the music department.

Joined University: August 2002.

Background: I am a native of Florida but have lived in Ohio and Texas as well. I received music degrees from The University of North Florida, the Florida State University and the University of Texas at Austin.

Interests: My main interest is music, whether I'm listening, performing, recording or teaching it. I also enjoy traveling, driving my car and being with family and friends whenever I can. I also have an interest in golf, but I'm not any good at it.

Last book read: "The Last Lecture" by Randy Pausch

Why I work at The Rock: Working (or playing, in my case) at The Rock has been one of the most rewarding aspects of my life so far. I teach music, a subject I am very passionate about, to great, hard-working students in a department that has a very strong reputation throughout the U.S. and beyond. I am honored and grateful for that opportunity. I have noticed during my relatively brief time at SRU that so many faculty members devote their lives, quite literally in most cases, to this institution and its students. That level of devotion is something to be cherished and something to which I aspire.
