About the Program - Corporate Security

The Corporate Security program will build your knowledge, skills and abilities to prevent, detect, investigate and correct organizational security breaches due to man-made (crime, workplace violence, terrorism, etc.) and natural disasters (fire, floods, etc.) that threaten property, people, information, economic assets and business continuity. As a Corporate Security major you will take classes in a variety of disciplines needed to critically analyze an organization’s security needs and find creative solutions to solve complex security issues.

The Corporate Security degree has two concentrations: Organizational Security and Fraud. The Organizational Security concentration provides the knowledge and skills needed to protect people, property, information and assets; while the Fraud concentration provides the knowledge and skills needed to secure economic assets. There are 39 credits common to both concentrations, 15 credits unique to each concentration and six credits of electives.

You will take classes in liberal studies and across the critical disciplines needed to be successful within this field:

- Criminology
- Business
- Safety
- Communications
- English
- Philosophy
- Interdisciplinary Studies

Through internship opportunities, you will gain real world experience and develop contacts to help you become successful in this field.

Careers in Corporate Security

Graduates from SRU’s Corporate Security program find careers in a variety of fields with the following job titles:

- Security Specialists
- Chief Security Officer
- Legal Investigator
- Internal Auditor
- Special Agent/FBI Agent
- Fraud Examiner
- Fraud Analyst
- Fraud Investigator
- Bankruptcy Analyst
- Private Investigator
- US Postal Inspector
- Management Consultant
- Compliance Officer/Executive
- Security Consultant/Director
- Director of Loss Prevention

Advantages - Corporate Security

There will be a high demand for entry-level security professionals projected in the next several decades by the American Society for Industrial Security International. The demand for Fraud specialists continues to grow in the private sector where companies, non-profits, and other organizations need individuals that are qualified to prevent and detect asset misappropriations, corruption, identity theft, and data theft. In addition, the public sector is in need of fraud specialists who are qualified in conducting financial intelligence, white collar crime, investigations, and working with homeland security experts in stopping the flow of money needed to finance terrorism.

Majors / Concentrations

- Corporate Security (BS)
  - Fraud
  - Organizational Security
- Homeland Security (BS)

Minors

- Fraud
- Homeland Security
- Organizational Security

Professional Certifications

- Certified Fraud Examiner (ACFE)
- Certified Protection Professional (ASIS)
- Professional Certified Investigator (ASIS)
- Physical Security Professional (ASIS)
About the Program-Homeland Security

The Homeland Security program will build your knowledge, skills, and abilities to prevent, detect, and investigate security breaches due to terrorism and natural disasters that threaten national security. As a Homeland Security major you will take classes in a variety of disciplines needed to engage in risk assessment, planning, and analysis; protect national critical infrastructure and key assets, and establish appropriate critical incident response and management. In addition, you will take classes in the socio-cultural aspects of human conflict.

You will take classes in liberal studies and across the critical disciplines needed to be successful within this field:

- Criminology
- Communication
- English
- Interdisciplinary Studies
- Military Science
- Philosophy
- Business
- Political Science
- Modern Languages
- History
- Geography
- Safety

Through internship opportunities, you will gain real world experience and develop contacts to help you become successful within this field.

Careers in Homeland Security

Graduates from SRU’s Homeland Security program find careers in a variety of fields with the following job titles:

- Homeland Security Specialist
- Emergency Management
- Coast Guard
- Border Patrol Agent
- Customs Agent
- US Air Marshal
- ATF Agent
- ICE Agent
- CIA Officer
- FBI Agent

Advantages

There is a demand for Homeland Security specialists at all levels of government and law enforcement as projected by the Economic Modeling Specialists International.