

Full Board Review

Full Board Review is defined as more than minimal risk to participants. This includes research involving minors or other vulnerable participants as subjects or questionnaires/surveys on a sensitive topic.

Full review protocols will always require an informed consent document and require high standards to provide the participants with anonymity and/or confidentiality.

These protocols are reviewed by the Full Board on a monthly basis. Please submit the application in ample time for the Board members to receive it before the meeting.

Note: Research involving minors, pregnant women, prisoners and the intellectually and physically impaired requires Full Board Review.
