AFFILIATIONS

- SRU and Butler County Community College (BC3) have articulation agreements that will enable BC3 students to easily transition into SRU’s undergraduate programs in health and physical education teacher: school wellness education. The partnership provides a curricular plan for students who want to begin their higher education at BC3 and transfer to SRU.

*SRU is required by the State Authorization Reciprocity Agreement and US Department of Education to notify you whether our program meets the academic licensure/certification requirements in another state. All jurisdictions have their own requirements for licensure/certification eligibility. SRU is approved to offer programs that may lead to licensure/certification in Pennsylvania. We are unable to determine our program’s eligibility in states other than PA. Please review the licensing board contact resource at www.sru.edu/licensure-certification to seek guidance on the requirements of licensure in your home state or where you would like to practice professionally. Note that state requirements are subject to change at any time and without notice.

WHAT CAN I DO WITH A SCHOOL WELLNESS EDUCATION DEGREE?

Become an expert in health, physical activity and school wellness while earning K-12 teaching certification in health and physical education. Through continued research and study, we are learning more about the opportunities possible to create a culture of wellness in schools. Through this major, students can become certified teachers and learn how to be part of rebuilding the health and wellness of our society through schools.

SCHOOL WELLNESS EDUCATION AT SRU

The new and unique school wellness education curriculum is based on five pillars:

- Teaching excellence
- Physical health and wellness
- School-to-community wellness
- Social, emotional and cognitive wellness
- Professionalism, advocacy and leadership

Students earn their health and physical education teaching certification and will be prepared to lead comprehensive school physical activity programs. Our accredited teacher education curriculum is nationally recognized and is based on current initiatives in education, physical activity and school wellness.

WHY CHOOSE SCHOOL WELLNESS EDUCATION AT SRU?

1. Current and relevant curriculum: Our innovative curriculum prepares health and physical education teachers to create a culture of wellness in K-12 schools, as recommended by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s Whole School, Whole Community, Whole Child Model.

2. Early field experience: Field experiences in public schools are embedded into our curriculum, beginning with the first year of the program. Students will have ample opportunities to gain confidence and experience in real schools at the elementary, middle and secondary levels before entering student teaching.

3. Experienced faculty: Students are taught by full-time faculty members with a wide variety of experience teaching in both public schools and higher education. Our faculty bring real-world examples and research to the profession and the classroom.

4. Projects and research with faculty: School wellness education majors have numerous opportunities to collaborate with faculty by participating in undergraduate research or by leading professional development days that promote student and faculty wellness in public schools.

5. Support and guidance: Every school wellness education major is provided with a “Steps to Success” plan to help them make decisions about educational and career goals, thereby increasing their success in college and on the job market.

6. Accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Preparation: Accreditation means that our program meets or exceeds the national standards of the Society of Health and Physical Educators.
