SRU DANCE NEWS

THE 2020-2021 YEAR IN REVIEW

SRU Dance Theatre

SRUDT ventured into a digital format due to the nature of the Covid-19 pandemic. Twenty-eight students choreographed for the 2020 season of SRUDT and forty-three pieces were adjudicated (involving over sixty dancers) for the Fresh Moves Concert and the Emerging Choreographers Concert. Due to the virtual nature, audiences were able to attend the showings from anywhere in the world.

Faculty Student Research Grant

Jennifer Keller, first year students in Improvisation, and senior BFA major Kari Hoglund, met for four workshops with Dr. Nina Martin to explore her movement theories and frameworks called “Ensemble Thinking” and “Re-wire.” Viewable at <https://www.facebook.com/watch/?v=278245337310135>

Melissa Teodoro and 7 dance majors were awarded the PASSHE Faculty-Student Research Grant to examine and re-construct the 18th century Colombian Andean dance, Bambuco Santafereno.

Virtual Guest Artist Series

Artists from around the world joined SRU students for virtual artist talks, feedback sessions, and master classes. Some of these artists were:

Ballet Trockadero
Sidra Bell
Archie Burnett
Simone Forti
Guanglei Hui
Wanjiru Kamuyu
Noemie LaFrance
Nina Martin
Karen Nelson

Cassidy Noblett
Staycee Pearl
Marta Renzi
Helen Simoneau

The 2021-2022

Year Ahead

33 Million Dollar Renovation

The Department of Dance moved into the 32-million-dollar renovation of the performing arts facilities on SRU's campus. Home to Dance and Theatre is the beautiful Pearl K. Stoner performing arts complex, renovated with two dance studios, a studio theater, and a black box theater. Adding to the two dance studios in Stoner are two state-of-the-art studios in Miller. All four studios have natural lighting and Harlequin sprung floors. A renovated 700+ seat theater with state-of-the-art dressing, rehearsal, and green rooms, as well as a welcoming lobby will host SRU national and international performances.

Events & Happenings

Choreographer Residencies

Commissions by Teena Marie Custer and Cameron McKinney (Artistic Director of Kizuna Dance) provided dance majors with the opportunity to work closely with nationally renowned choreographers. Both dance pieces were performed in the Faculty and Guest Artist Concert on October 23, 2021.

Accreditation Site Visit

Faculty are eager to welcome site visitors from the National Association of Schools of Dance in April, 2022.

Faculty Spotlights

Nora Ambrosio wrote a chapter for the book “Dance Around the World” edited by Lynn Frederiksen and Shih-Ming Li Chang and published by Human Kinetics titled “Social Dance in the United States: Expression and Socialization.” She recently created a duet titled “This Way, That Way” shown at the 2021 Faculty and Guest Artist Dance Concert. Nora also completed her term as the President of the Board of Directors for the Lincoln Park Performing Arts Charter School. She continues to serve as a site visitor for the National Association of Schools of Dance and as a Presidential Appointee for the Commission on Accreditation.

Jesse Factor recently participated in the Spring 2021 Artist Cohort for Ideas in Motion, sponsored by the National Center for Choreography. Factor shared collaborative forms of devising for the 21st Century Dance Practice class series. Jesse also spoke about his history with the Martha Graham Dance Company and creative process on the “Inside the Dancers Studio” podcast. He currently enjoys continuing education through online classes in Zena Rommett Floor Barre, Dunham technique, and Gyrokinesis.

Andrew Hasenpflug had a virtually successful year. He created several works for video as well as several live streaming performances. Most notably, he won the Best Musical Score award from The Art of Brooklyn Film Festival 2021 for his contribution to the Helanius Wilkins / Roma Flowers film “Dirt”. He is also in the final stages of composing for the SRU / David Skeeel horror film, “The Margins”.

Jennifer Keller began a three-year term as chair of the department, embarking with the faculty on an unprecedented year of teaching dance online, offering virtual concerts and a series of virtual guest artists. Having taught Dance Technology for years, the shift to film-making by all the students was an exciting one. Keller directed three films, including “Sweet Sense,” featuring Kari Hoglund (SRU class of 2021); “Pulse,” featuring students from her repertory course; and “Jade,” featuring BFA senior, Hannah Corey. In spring 2021, Keller hosted long-time collaborator, Dr. Nina Martin, for a faculty-student research grant.

Melissa Teodoro was invited as a guest lecturer and commissioned choreographer at St. Olaf University in Minnesota in the spring of 2021. She shared her knowledge about the history of Afro-Colombian dance and set the earthy and grounded “Seresese” on the St. Olaf dance company. She returned to St. Olaf for a second residency in fall 2021 assisted by 3 senior dance majors. Teodoro presented a research paper at the International Council of Traditional Music in the summer of 2021 titled, “Masculinity that emanates from under the skirt: The unveiling of female sexual abuse during the Spanish colonization in Colombia.”

Lindsay Viatori's dance film SILKEN: EDGE (featuring alumna Tiffany Shrom) was selected for the 2020 Movies by Movers film festival at ADF, Pittsburgh Dance Week, and the Dance Exposure Festival for the Lehigh Valley Dance Exchange. Her research “Decolonizing the Classroom: A Framework for Ethical Jazz Dance Pedagogy” was presented at the International Conference on Arts in Society (Perth, Australia). She was also invited to serve on the Board of Directors for Helen Simoneau Danse.

Ursula Payne had a successful sabbatical leave over the 2020-2021 academic year. She was the movement director for “Obi Mbu” (2021) a 30-minute choreographed dance film by Mikael Owunna and Marques Redd that features illuminated Black dancers under a backdrop of ultraviolet light reenacting the emergence of the cosmos. She was an invited guest on three national and international podcast series related to her expertise as a dance artist, administrator, and educator. Her IRB (SRU) approved research project Exploring Dance Students' Experiences with Blended Learning in Studio Based Dance Courses was accepted for presentation in the 2021 DSA Conference at Rutgers University. Payne also earned a certificate of completion from the Academy of Inner Science for completing 30 hours of online training in Principles of Collective Trauma Healing.

Jaya Mani trained 3 students to do their solo performance and dance concert (Arangetram) during the months of 2021. A group of her students performed for a religious festival conducted by Sri Venkateshwara Temple in Pittsburgh. Another group of her students performed at the India Independence Day Celebration in the Cathedral of Learning at the University of Pittsburgh.
