1962?-1964, v.8 no.2 – v.9-no.2

“A decision was made by the staff of the Rocket Writer to change the name of the campus literary magazine. The name Impulse was suggested and the staff reacted favorable. Forthcoming editions will go by the name Impulse.” (From v.8 no. 2, no date)

30-P-9 Beacon, 1978-1982

30-P-10 Rocket Writer, Rocket Press Club, 1956-1961, v.1 – v.8 no.2

(campus literary magazine, by the Press Club) Ginger Hill and Slab moved from this number to 30-P-23 and 30-P-24. Update those dates.

“This booklet is the result of the Rocket Press Club to further creative writing on our campus. These stories and poems were selected from entries in the Rocket Writing Contest held this spring” (from first issue). Adrian Percy, editor. Mr. Kenneth Harris, faculty sponsor.

30-P-19 Slippery Rock Sta-Te-Col Slippery Rock State Teachers College, monthly literary journal, 1930-1931. (Replaced The Slippery Rocket), 10/1930-05/1931 Was 18-4-P-2

“Due to unforeseen circumstances, it was necessary for the Press Club to discontinue the publication of the Slippery Rocket. In its stead the club offers for the college’s approval a monthly sixteen page journal, to contain essays, articles, news, features, society and club notes, and campus chatter. Through the efforts of the administration this journal has been made possible, as will future work on the Slippery Rocket, which, happily, will be rejuvenated next year.” v.1 no.1. Also included is an article on the selection of the title Sta-te-Col.

“Some people have the mistaken idea that the present student publication, namely the Sta-Te-Col, is a newspaper, and that it is failing in its duty to supply the college with news. May we correct this fallacy? The Sta-Te-Col is a monthly literary journal, designed to bring to the college the best literary efforts of the students, both in prose and poetry.” v. 1 no. 6

NOTE: v. 1 no. 8 (May 1931) has an article by an Anne Morrow.
