ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The master's degree program in Special Education is being offered by one of the oldest Special Education Departments in the United States with a long history of producing top quality special educators in Pennsylvania and across the United States. The faculty who has extensive teaching and administration experience in the field has developed an award-winning online program (put award name here) that can be completed in one calendar year for those with existing teaching credentials or a year-and-a-half for those students seeking initial teaching certification. The online format has been designed for working professionals and busy consumers that want to obtain a degree and teaching credentials without extensive travel and the ability to complete it using a flexible schedule. Courses are set up in both an asynchronous and synchronous manner with most classes being offered in an asynchronous format.

OPTION #1 (FOR CERTIFIED TEACHERS)

Option #1 allows students with existing certification in any area to earn a master's degree and to add on a Special Education PK-12 certification to their existing teaching credentials. This program is offered exclusively online and can be completed in one calendar year. Students who choose this option will be required to complete 36 credits to earn an M.Ed. in Special Education and will be required to take and pass Praxis 5354 Special Education Core Knowledge and Application to add on the PK-12 Special Education Certification to their existing teaching license.

OPTION #2 (FOR STUDENTS SEEKING AN INITIAL CERTIFICATION)

Option #2 is appropriate for students interested in a career change. Choosing this option will result in a master's degree in special education and initial certification in Special Education PK-12. Because it is a program offering initial certification, the curriculum can be completed in 1.5 years including a 15-week student teaching experience. This program is ideal for candidates seeking a career change. All student teaching experiences must be completed in the state of Pennsylvania.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

SRU's M.Ed. Program in Special Education with two options offers the following:

- An earned M.Ed. from one of the oldest and most reputable Special Education Departments in America
- An opportunity to add a Special Education teaching certification PK-12 to existing certification
- Initial teaching certification in Special Education PK-12 for those seeking a career change
- PA Department of Education approved program curriculum
- Asynchronous content delivery for those students seeking a flexible schedule
- Synchronous instruction at strategic points in the program for students seeking initial certification
- CAEP accredited program that has undergone extensive review
- Does not require a GRE or MAT score for entrance into the program
- Knowledgeable academic advisors who know the job market and are working and consulting in the field

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

All applicants must submit the following materials along with a completed online graduate application and non-refundable application fee:

- Copy of teaching certification (for those seeking Option #1 shown above)
- Resume
- Two electronic recommendation forms: two from professionals in the field or one from a professional in the field and one from a faculty member from your previous school
