PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

According to current research, one out of every 54 children born today will be diagnosed with autism spectrum disorder. This has led to a significant demand for working professionals who understand autism. That is why SRU developed the Special Education with an Emphasis on Autism graduate program. This program's curriculum is highly specialized with courses that address the social and communication needs of children with autism, an Applied Behavior Analysis course to prepare teachers for academic instruction, and curriculum and program needs for children with ASD.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

SRU's Autism Program offers:

- Highly specialized graduate degree that addresses the social and communication needs for children with Autism, an Applied Behavior Analysis course to prepare teachers for academic instruction, and curriculum and program needs for children with ASD
- 100% online program convenient for the working professional
- Flexible curriculum that meets the demands of classroom teachers or human service agency professionals
- Classes taught by professors with expertise in Applied Behavior Analysis and Autism Spectrum Disorders
- Curriculum aligned with Council for Exceptional Children (CEC) standards and Pennsylvania Department of Education competencies

CURRICULUM GUIDE

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Are you a classroom teacher interested in improving your knowledge in the area of autism spectrum disorders? If so, read on! According to the Center for Disease Control, one out of every 54 children born today will be diagnosed with an autism spectrum disorder. Many of these children are capable of being included in a typical classroom setting with some assistance from a knowledgeable professional. Do you want to be that professional?

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

SRU's Autism Endorsement Program offers:

- An exclusively online 12-credit program convenient for the working professional educator and can be completed in two semesters
- Highly specialized courses that address the social and communication needs for children with Autism, an Applied Behavior Analysis course to prepare teachers for academic instruction, and curriculum and program needs for children with ASD
- Program approval by the Pennsylvania Department of Education leading to an endorsement of a teaching certificate
- Classes taught by professors with expertise in ABA and Autism Spectrum Disorders
- Curriculum aligned with CEC standards and Pennsylvania Department of Education competencies

CURRICULUM GUIDE

The Autism Endorsement Program is a program recognized by the Pennsylvania Department of Education. It is available to interested students with an existing undergraduate degree in education (any area) or professionals working in human services agencies that support children and adults with Autism (ex. Behavior Specialist, Wraparound). The program has been developed as a response to the increasing need for highly trained teachers and professionals to work with students diagnosed with autism spectrum disorders in public and private schools and outside agencies.

The program curriculum is highly specialized with courses that address the social and communication needs for children with Autism, an Applied Behavior Analysis course to prepare teachers for academic instruction, and curriculum and program needs for children with ASD. This program can be completed in two semesters and is exclusively online. Upon completion of the program, educators are eligible to receive the endorsement on their current teaching certification by applying for the endorsement through PDE.
