CLASS START DATES

Summer school classes are to start only on the start date for the session specified on the Master Schedule. They must end by the last day of the session. For example, Pre-Session starts on May 10, 2023. All classes listed as being taught during Pre-Session, on the Master Schedule, must start on May 10, 2023.

COURSES

Each class is assigned a workload. Most three (3) credit lecture classes equal three (3) weeks of pay. Classes with laboratories earn additional weeks of pay.

Your salary will be based upon 55% of 1/24th of your base annual salary applied to your current rank and step.

CROSS LISTED COURSES

If you are teaching a cross listed course, you must have a combined total of eight (8) undergraduate and graduate students registered one week prior to the first class meeting. If mutually agreeable with management and faculty, these numbers/dates may be altered.

Your salary will be based upon 55% of 1/24th of your base annual salary applied to your current rank and step.

LOW ENROLLED COURSES

Undergraduate courses failing to enroll at least 10 undergraduates at least one week prior to the first day of the term/class are considered low enrolled.

Graduate courses failing to enroll at least 8 graduate students at least one week prior to the first day of the term/class are considered low enrolled.

Cross listed classes with a combined total of (7) or fewer undergraduate and graduate students are considered low enrolled.

Faculty teaching a low enrolled class will be paid one of the following ways:

- Low enrolled with full pay - Your salary will be based upon 55% of 1/24th of your base annual salary applied to your current rank and step.
- Article 27 (Continuing Education) - Four (4) or more students up to the threshold are enrolled. Under the provisions of Article 27 of the CBA, you will be paid a gross salary of 2/3 of the net tuition revenue of the course up to a maximum of 125% of the overload rate (125% of the overload rate is equivalent to the contractual maximum of 1/24th of your academic year salary for each academic credit hour).

- Individualized Instruction - three (3) or fewer students enrolled, you will be offered Individualized Instruction. If you are paid Individualized Instruction, you will be paid $200 per credit.
